An estimated 158 million children aged 5-14 are engaged in child labour- one in six children in the world. Millions of children are engaged in hazardous situations or conditions such as working in mines, working with chemicals and pesticides in agriculture or working with dangerous machinery. They are everywhere but invisible: toiling as domestic servants in homes, labouring behind the walls of workshops, hidden from view in plantations…

In Sub-Saharan Africa, one child in three is engaged in child labour, representing 69 million children. In South Asia, another 44 million are at work.

Children living in the poorest households and in rural areas are most likely to be engaged in child labour. Those burdened with household chores are girls. Millions of girls who work as domestic servants are especially vulnerable to exploitation and abuse.

The UNICEF often interferes with children's education. Ensuring that all children go to school and that their education is of good quality, is a key to preventing child labour.

PART ONE: Reading (15 points)

A. Comprehension (08 points)

Read the text carefully then do the following activities.

The Hubble space telescope is a deep space imager used by NASA to explore space. It collects light, magnifies images and gives astronomers the most detailed images unknown to man. Hubble has been at work since April 25, 1990, and celebrated its 20th anniversary in orbit on April 24, 2010.

Twenty years in service, and still being the leading source for space news, says a lot about Hubble's overall longevity and productiveness. Over 6000 scientific articles have been published based on Hubble data with some of its discoveries being so significant that NASA would have needed multiple satellite missions to accomplish the same results. Its importance to me is based on my lifelong interest in astronomy, and the galaxy where we live in.

Its importance to others, such as NASA and astronomers around the world, is due to the fact that Hubble is currently the leading source for new information and ground-breaking discoveries when it comes to deep space. But, after a stalled launch in 1985, five repair missions since its beginning, and billions of dollars in funding, I asked myself: "Is Hubble worth it?".
